A schematic diagram of a four-bar linkage mechanism. It consists of four rigid links connected by revolute joints. The top link is horizontal and serves as the ground link. The two side links are of equal length, indicated by dimension lines and the label 'Length'. The bottom link is horizontal and serves as the ground link, with a dimension line and the label 'breedte' (width) indicating its length. The mechanism is shown in a configuration where the side links are at an angle to the horizontal ground links. Dashed lines indicate the possible range of motion for the side links.
